If you are a partner or executive officer in construction that is not exempt from mandatory coverage, you can apply for a reduced premium rate if:

- You or one of your fellow executive officers or partners do not perform any construction work or provide direct on-site supervision of employees. Only one executive officer or partner can apply for an exemption from coverage, those that are not exempt are eligible to apply for a reduced premium rate.
- Your business strictly does home renovations and you are always hired and paid by the home's owner or resident. You must still have coverage for your employees.

Independent operators and sole proprietors in construction are not eligible for the reduced premium rate.

Declaration for non - exempt partners and executive officers in construction requesting a reduced premium rate

The partner or executive officer and an authorized business representative must complete this form.

Business legal name (Legal entity)	Account number or firm number
------------------------------------	-------------------------------

As an authorized representative of this business, I understand that:

1. The WSIB has the right to determine if the partner or executive officer is eligible for the reduced premium rate for non-exempt partners or executive offers in construction.
2. Only the insurable earnings of eligible partners or executive officers can be reported under the reduced premium rate for non-exempt partners and executive officers in construction.
3. We may request proof of ownership or executive officer status at any time.
4. If a partner or executive officer engages in any construction work, or if there is any other material that affects this request, you must notify the WSIB within 10 days of the material change occurring.
5. If we discover that insurable earnings for an individual who does not qualify are reported under the reduced premium rate, a retroactive premium adjustment may be made to your account.
6. It is an offence to knowingly make a false or misleading statement or to fail to report a material change.

Terms

Construction refers to any of the industries listed under Class G construction in the WSIB Employer Classification Manual.

Construction work is any manual work of a skilled or unskilled nature, operation of equipment or machinery, or direct on-site supervision of workers. Periodic site visits are not consider construction work as long as the partners or executive officers are not performing construction work.

Partner operates a business together with one or more partners, though you may or may not share the business equally.

Executive officer controls the direction of the entire organization or key functions of the organization (e.g. operations or finance). Titles such as President or Vice President do not automatically make you an executive officer. To be considered an executive officer, you must be listed as such on corporate documents and be empowered to act on behalf of the organization.
