Purpose

This Toolbox supports Developing Workplace Violence and Harassment Policies and Programs: What Employers Need to Know http://www.labour.gov.on.ca/english/hs/pubs/wvps_guide/index.php, which outlines steps that will help you protect the workers in your workplace from the hazard of violence.

This Toolbox contains information, tools, and assessments that can be useful to employers as they develop a workplace violence policy and program, a workplace harassment policy and program, or a domestic violence program.

Workplaces are not required to use all or any of the tools presented in this Toolbox. Employers may use other tools or techniques to help them to comply with the requirements of the Occupational Health and Safety Act.

Contact your Health and Safety Association with any questions about workplace violence prevention. Ontario's health and safety associations have sector-specific information, programs, and services related to workplace violence and harassment, as well as other topics. See the Resources section for contact information.

Use, reproduction, or customization of these tools to meet sector or workplace-specific needs is recommended and encouraged. These documents are available online http://www.labour.gov.on.ca/english/hs/pubs/wvps_guide/index.php and http://www.labour.gov.on.ca/english/hs/pubs/wvps_toolbox/index.php

Workplace Violence Survey

(Based on material from the Ontario Safety Association for Community and Healthcare.)

This survey may be used to ask workers and management about their perception of their safety in the workplace. It can also be used as part of Step 1 in Developing Workplace Violence and Harassment Policies and Programs: What Employers Need to Know.

Workplaces are not required to use this survey, or any survey, in order to comply with the Occupational Health and Safety Act.

Before distributing this survey, add an introduction that outlines the purpose of the survey, how the results of the survey will be reported, with whom the results will be shared, and how it will be used. The survey should be anonymous.

Sample – Workplace or Sector-specific Questions

The following section can be tailored to meet your specific workplace or sector-specific needs. The following are sample questions for workers in a community-based setting.

If you work in the community, are you provided with any of these supports?	Yes	No	N/A
Background information on the neighbourhood in general, the immediate work area, clients, etc.
The assistance of a buddy or security guard in high-risk situations
A cell phone or radio when needed
A security contact person
Communication about a client's history of violence or known behavioural issues
Timely assistance when you report a problem
Are there any other supports that you think would help safeguard your security? If yes, please specify below:

Policy, Program, and Training Review Tool

This section outlines policies, programs, and training related to workplace violence prevention.

The tool may be used during three of the steps for developing your workplace violence policy and program, as outlined in Developing Workplace Violence and Harassment Policies and Programs: What Employers Need to Know.

During Step 2, Assess the Risks of Workplace Violence, the tool can help you review the policies, programs, measures, and procedures you have in place to counter workplace violence. During this step, you may wish only to use the Yes and No columns to determine whether your workplace has the policies, programs, or training in place.

During Step 3, Control the Risks of Workplace Violence, when you are setting up your workplace violence program, you may wish to use the examples of content for policies, programs, and training as ideas for what you could do in your workplace.

During Step 4, Monitor and Evaluate, the questions about workplace culture may help you monitor and evaluate your workplace violence and harassment policies and programs.

Workplaces are not required to use the examples of policy, program, and training content provided in this tool. Employers may develop their own policies, programs, and training that comply with the requirements of the Occupational Health and Safety Act.

Workplace Violence Assessments

There are three parts to the Workplace Violence Assessments:

1. General Physical Environment Assessment
2. Risk Factor Selection Tool
3. Assessments for Specific Risks

You only need to fill out the Assessments for Specific Risks that are relevant to your workplace or to specific jobs or locations.

Before you start to use the assessments:

- Decide who will fill out the assessment(s). Think about the knowledge this person should have. Your health and safety association may be able to help provide training for the assessor, or may be able to help your workplace to complete the assessments.
- Decide with whom you will consult to fill out the assessments.

You are encouraged to involve workers, supervisors, joint health and safety committees, health and safety representatives, and/or unions in this process. Your workplace violence policy and program will be the better for it.

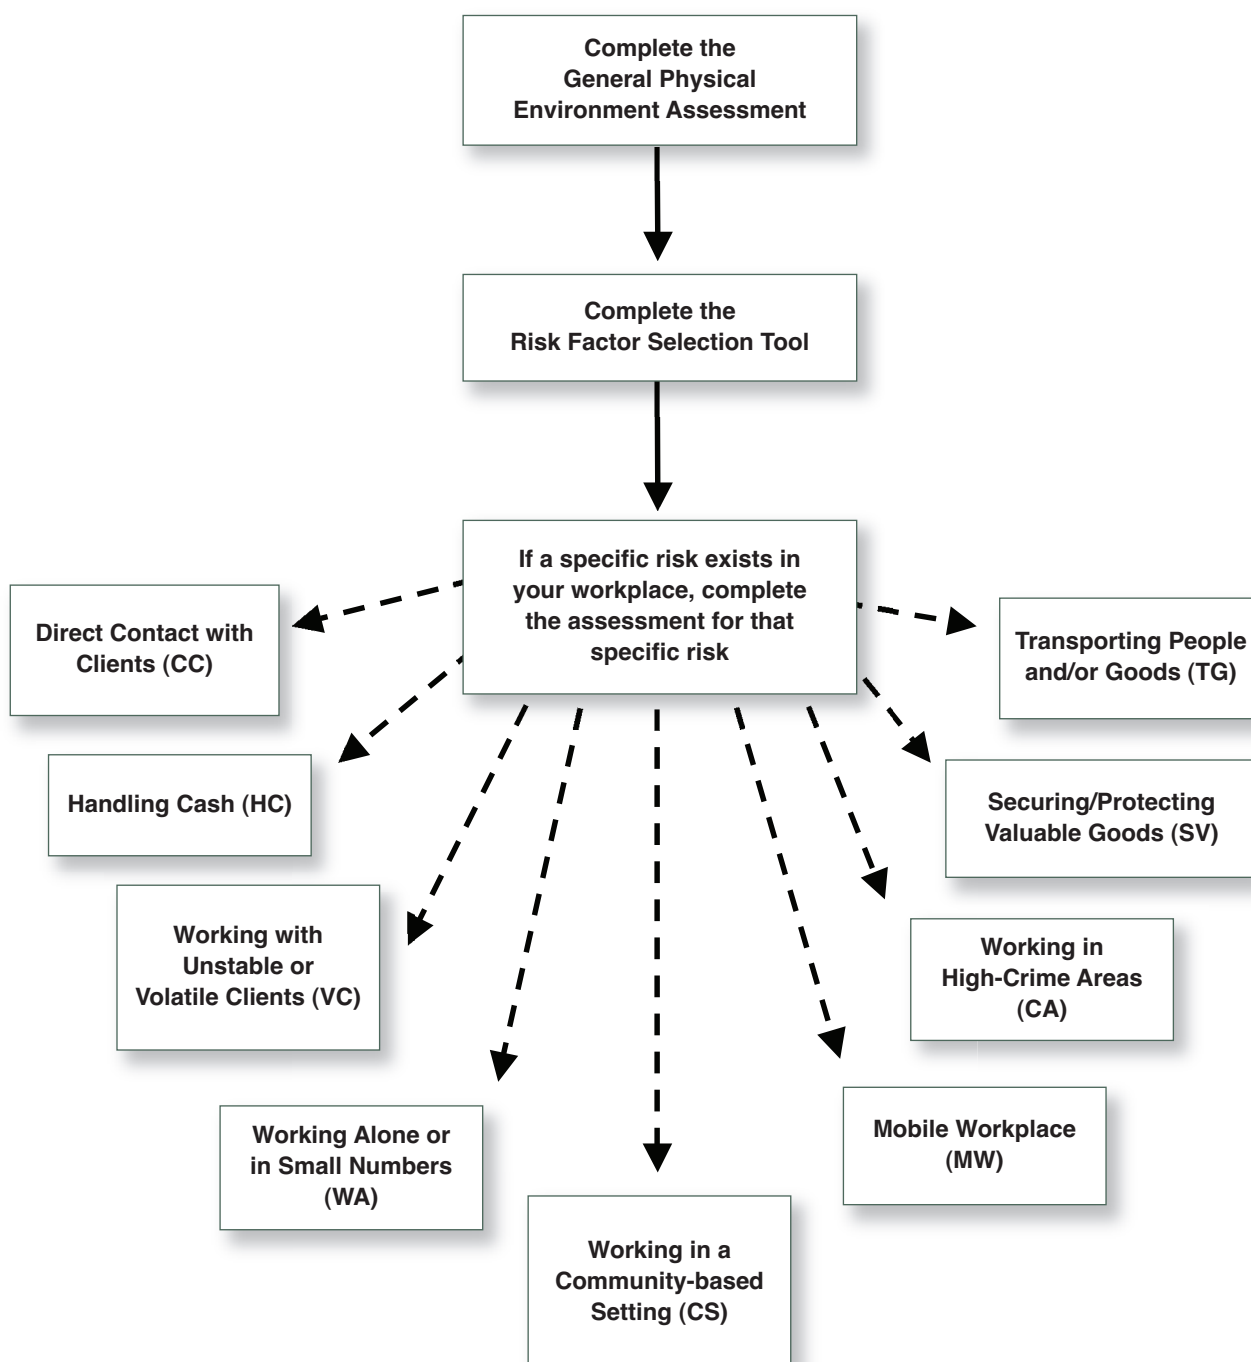

- Decide whether there one set of assessments will be filled out for the entire workplace, or if there will be separate assessments for different jobs, tasks, or locations:
- Smaller employers, such as variety stores, may only have one workplace, so they would need only one assessment.
- Larger employers may wish to divide the operations into workplaces or tasks that have similar risks of violence. For example, a debt collection operation may divide its staff into those who deal with customers personally and those who perform administrative support functions with no customer contact. In this way, violence prevention efforts can be focused on those areas where they are most needed.

When you are filling out the assessments:

- At the top of the assessments, identify the job/department/location, the name of the person filling it out, and the date.
- Check the boxes as accurately as possible, being sure to put a mark opposite each question.
- If the answer to any of the questions is in a shaded column, fill in the information about controls that already exist at your workplace. When filling in recommended controls, take into consideration the protection of all workers in the workplace, including those who may be more vulnerable to violence.

Workplaces are not required to use all or any of the examples of controls. There may be other controls that are more suitable to the circumstances of your workplace, and to controlling the risks of workplace violence that you identify.

Your workplace may have additional risks that are not covered by these Workplace Violence Assessments, or you may need to customize them for your workplace. Your Health and Safety Association may have suggestions or materials about more focused assessments for your type of workplace.

General Physical Environment Assessment

This assessment focuses on the nature of the workplace. It takes you through a survey of your workplace's physical environment and its security measures. There are spaces for you to note the controls that are already in place, and to identify what additional controls may be suitable for your workplace.

You are not required to use all or any of the examples of controls. There may be other controls that are more suitable to your workplace's circumstances and to controlling the risks of workplace violence that you identify.

Risk Factor Selection Tool

You may use this tool to identify risks specific to your workplace. If a specific risk exists in your workplace, make sure that you complete the assessment for that specific risk.

If your workplace is subject to more than one of the specific risks below, you may wish to prioritize or rank them. For help with this process, you may use the process outlined on the third page of this tool.

Your workplace may have additional risks that are not covered by these risk factors. Your Health and Safety Association may have suggestions or materials for more focused assessments for your type of workplace.

Ranking or prioritizing the risk factors

Ranking or prioritizing the risk factors is one way to help determine which safety hazards need to be addressed first. Priority is usually identified by taking into account how much or how often a worker is exposed to the situation or conditions and the potential for harm. Assigning a priority to the risks creates an action list.

There is no simple or single way to determine the level of risk. Ranking hazards requires knowledge of workplace activities, the urgency of particular situations, and, most importantly, objective judgment. The following can help guide you in choosing the appropriate level for each specific risk:

Category of Risk	Activity Description
High	One or more potential risks regularly place the employee at risk and/or the risk is severe. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Regularly = Part of the normal work routine/assignment • Severe = Potential for fatal or critical injury
Moderate	One or more potential risks occasionally place the employee at risk and/or the risk is moderate. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Occasionally = Recognized part of work activities occurring on an infrequent basis • Moderate = Potential for lost time/medical aid required
Low	One or more potential risks rarely place the employee at risk and/or the risk is minimal. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Rarely = Not a normal part of the work routine • Minimal = Potential for first aid required

The above method is not the only way to categorize risk. If a job or location has multiple risk factors, the overall risk of workplace violence may be higher than for jobs with only one or two risk factors. In addition, you may want to take into consideration whether hours of operation or the makeup of the workforce influences the level of risk.

Remember that you should address all risk factors in your workplace, not just the priority ones.

Assessment for Specific Risk: Direct Contact with Clients (CC)

This assessment can be useful for fixed-location workplaces where workers are expected to provide a product or service to clients, for example, in retail stores, gas stations, factories, manufacturing settings, industrial settings, office environments, health care facilities, and clinics. Examples of activities include:

- Working in a fixed location in the presence of cash, goods, or medications that may be readily sold or pawned
- Working in a fixed location with clients that have access to staff

You are not required to use all or any of the examples of controls. There may be other controls that are more suitable to the circumstances of your workplace and to controlling the risks of workplace violence that you identify.

Assessment for Specific Risk: Handling Cash (HC)

This assessment is designed to help workplaces assess the risk of workplace violence where workers are handling cash in a fixed location. Such workers include, but are not limited to, cashiers who might become a target for theft or loss.

Examples of activities include:

- Maintaining petty cash in a fixed location
- Working at a cashier station in a fixed location
- Making cash deposits

You are not required to use all or any of the examples of controls. There may be other controls that are more suitable to the circumstances of your workplace and to controlling the risks of workplace violence that you identify.

Assessment for Specific Risk: Working with Unstable or Volatile Clients (VC)

This assessment can be useful to workplaces where workers are providing services or products to persons with physiological, psychological, or psychiatric conditions, or substance abuse issues. Examples of workers providing services or products to this population include caregivers, parole officers, police, corrections officers, youth officers, social service workers, and receptionists. Examples of activities include:

- Providing a service to persons with physiological, psychological, or psychiatric conditions, or substance abuse issues
- Providing a service that involves physical contact with clients who may be unpredictable due to influences outside the workplace

Assessment for Specific Risk: Working Alone or in Small Numbers (WA)

This assessment can be useful to workplaces where work is performed at a fixed location by a single worker or very few workers. This could include settings such as health care facilities and clinics, retail stores, gas stations, factories, manufacturing facilities, industrial settings, and office environments. Examples of activities include:

- Working in a fixed location where there is limited or no access to communication tools and other security devices
- Working in a fixed location where there is high potential for assault, sexual assault, or robbery
- Working in isolated areas within a worksite, away from other workers
- Working in a remote worksite where the public may have access

You are not required to use all or any of the examples of controls. There may be other controls that are more suitable to the circumstances of your workplace and to controlling the risks of workplace violence that you identify.

Assessment for Specific Risk: Working in a Community-based Setting (CS)

This assessment can be useful to workplaces where workers are expected to work in the community and provide services in private homes and dwellings, including home support workers, caregivers, home service and repair personnel, real estate agents, insurance agents, and salespeople. Examples of activities include:

- Travelling alone in the community
- Working in a client's personal dwelling
- Working with limited or no access to communication tools and other security devices

You are not required to use all or any of the examples of controls. There may be other controls that are more suitable to the circumstances of your workplace and to controlling the risks of workplace violence that you identify.

Assessment for Specific Risk: Mobile Workplace (MW)

This assessment can be useful to workplaces where workers are required to travel in a vehicle most of their workday with limited communication with their office. These workers could be salespeople, consultants, auditors contract accountants, etc., who travel to clients' premises. Examples of activities include:

- Working on the road – a vehicle is a “mobile office”
- Working in remote or unknown areas
- Situations in which the public has access to the worker in and outside of the vehicle

You are not required to use all or any of the examples of controls. There may be other controls that are more suitable to the circumstances of your workplace and to controlling the risks of workplace violence that you identify.

Assessment for Specific Risk: Working in High-Crime Areas (CA)

This assessment may help workplaces determine the risk of workplace violence where workers perform services in a fixed location in a high-crime area. A high-crime area is identified by police and insurance and real estate broker statistics. Examples of activities include:

- Working in areas where there is a high potential for assault, sexual assault, or robbery, based on police statistics
- Working in areas where there is a high potential for theft and/or property damage, based on insurance and realtor/broker statistics

Assessment for Specific Risk: Securing/Protecting Valuable Goods (SV)

This assessment is designed to help workplaces assess the risk of workplace violence where a worker's principal job function includes protecting or securing valuable goods in transport and/or in a fixed location which, if left unprotected or unsecured, might become a target for theft or loss. Such workers include, but are not limited to, security guards. Activities may include:

- Working in the presence of cash, goods, or medications that may be readily sold or pawned
- Working in the presence of valuable portable goods, such as precious metals, vehicles, or electronics
- Transporting cash or valuable goods, especially to remote or isolated locations
- Protecting valuable goods in an area open to the public
- Intervening in a situation to prevent theft or loss
- Patrolling alone or at night, especially in remote or isolated locations

You are not required to use all or any of the examples of controls. There may be other controls that are more suitable to the circumstances of your workplace and to controlling the risks of workplace violence that you identify.

Assessment for Specific Risk: Transporting People and/or Goods (TG)

This assessment is designed to help workplaces determine the risk of workplace violence where workers transport people in taxis, buses, streetcars, or subways, and where workers transfer goods of all kinds in trucks and mid-size vehicles. Examples of activities include:

- Working in high-density traffic routes
- Working in areas where there is exposure to “road rage”
- Working in areas where there is limited or no access to communication tools
- Working in situations where the public has physical access to the driver/staff
- Working in situations where fare collection and the enforcement of fares is required
- Working in situations where there is exposure to theft of goods that are being transferred

You are not required to use all or any of the examples of controls. There may be other controls that are more suitable to the circumstances of your workplace and to controlling the risks of workplace violence that you identify.

Example Workplace Violence Policy

The management of _____ (insert company name) is committed to the prevention of workplace violence and is ultimately responsible for worker health and safety. We will take whatever steps are reasonable to protect our workers from workplace violence from all sources. (The workplace may wish to insert the definition of workplace violence and to list the sources of workplace violence)

Violent behaviour in the workplace is unacceptable from anyone. This policy applies to (the workplace may wish to list to who this policy applies to, especially if it applies to persons other than workers, such as visitors, clients, delivery persons, volunteers, etc.). Everyone is expected to uphold this policy and to work together to prevent workplace violence.

There is a workplace violence program that implements this policy. It includes measures and procedures to protect workers from workplace violence, a means of summoning immediate assistance and a process for workers to report incidents, or raise concerns. (The workplace may wish to specify and expand upon the components of the workplace violence program here.)

_____, (insert company name) as the employer, will ensure that this policy and the supporting program are implemented and maintained and that all workers and supervisors have the appropriate information and instruction to protect them from violence in the workplace.

Supervisors will adhere to this policy and the supporting program. Supervisors are responsible for ensuring that measures and procedures are followed by workers and that workers have the information that they need to protect themselves.

Every worker must work in compliance with this policy and the supporting program. All workers are encouraged to raise any concerns about workplace violence and to report any violent incidents or threats. (The workplace may wish to provide more information about how to report incidents, and may wish to emphasize that there will be no negative consequences for reports made in good faith.)

Management pledges to investigate and deal with all incidents and complaints of workplace violence in a timely and fair manner, respecting the privacy of all concerned to the extent possible. (The workplace may wish to provide more information about how incidents and complaints will be investigated and/or dealt with.)

Signed: _____ President/CEO Date: _____

The workplace harassment policy should be consulted whenever there are concerns about harassment in the workplace.

Example Workplace Harassment Policy

The management of _____ (insert company name) is committed to providing a work environment in which all individuals are treated with respect and dignity.

Workplace harassment will not be tolerated from any person in the workplace (The workplace may wish to list the sources of workplace harassment). Everyone in the workplace must be dedicated to preventing workplace harassment. Managers, supervisors, and workers are expected to uphold this policy, and will be held accountable by the employer (If the policy applies to other people in the workplace, they should also be listed).

Workplace harassment means engaging in a course of vexatious comment or conduct against a worker in a workplace – a comment or conduct that is known or ought reasonably to be known to be unwelcome (The workplace may wish to list examples of unacceptable behaviour).

Harassment may also relate to a form of discrimination as set out in the Ontario Human Rights Code, but it does not have to (The workplace may wish to include information about what constitutes discriminatory harassment under Ontario's Human Rights Code).

This policy is not intended to limit or constrain the reasonable exercise of management functions in the workplace (The workplace may wish to include examples of work functions that would generally not be considered workplace harassment).

Workers are encouraged to report any incidents of workplace harassment (The workplace may wish to provide more information about how to report incidents and may wish to emphasize there will be no negative consequences for reports made in good faith).

Management will investigate and deal with all concerns, complaints, or incidents of workplace harassment in a fair and timely manner while respecting workers' privacy as much as possible (The workplace may wish to provide more information about how incidents of harassment will be investigated and/or dealt with).

Nothing in this policy prevents or discourages a worker from filing an application with the Human Rights Tribunal of Ontario on a matter related to Ontario's Human Rights Code within one year of the last alleged incident. A worker also retains the right to exercise any other legal avenues that may be available.

Signed: _____ President/CEO Date: _____

The workplace violence policy should be consulted whenever there are concerns about violence in the workplace.

Recognizing Domestic Violence in the Workplace

It is in your best interests to be able to recognize the signs of domestic violence. What follows are some signs that may be noticed in the workplace.

The victim may:

- try to cover bruises;
- be sad, lonely, withdrawn, and afraid;
- have trouble concentrating on a task;
- apologize for the abuser's behaviour;
- be nervous when the abuser is in the workplace;
- make last-minute excuses or cancellations;
- use drugs or alcohol to cope; or
- miss work frequently or more often than usual.

The abuser may interfere with the victim while at work by:

- repeatedly phoning or emailing the victim;
- stalking and/or watching the victim;
- showing up at the workplace and pestering co-workers with questions about the victim (Where is she? Who is she with? When will she be back?, etc.);
- displaying jealous and controlling behaviours;
- lying to co-workers (she's sick today, she's out of town, she's home with a sick child, etc.);
- threatening co-workers (if you don't tell me, I'll...);
- verbally abusing the victim or co-workers;
- destroying the victim's or the organization's property; or
- physically harming the victim and/or co-workers.

The abuser may attempt to prevent the victim from getting to work by:

- interfering with transportation by hiding or stealing the victim's car keys or transportation money;
- hiding or stealing the victim's identification cards;
- threatening deportation in a situation where the victim was sponsored;
- failing to show up to care for children; or
- physically restraining the victim.

Creating a Safety Plan

Safety planning is a way to increase the victim's safety. By examining possible steps that victims of domestic violence – and those around them – can take to minimize the risk of violence, you can increase safety in your workplace.

Safety plans look at the steps that can be taken at different points in time or in various situations (when at work, while living with the abuser, getting ready to leave the abuser, leaving the abuser, after leaving the abuser, and protecting children and family pets). Creating a safety plan requires experience in risk and threat assessments, so you may want to connect with services in your community to get expert help with completing the plan.

Below, you will find information on the general features of a safety plan, as well as where to go for help with creating one.

A safety plan:

- identifies actions to increase the worker safety;
- is prepared in advance based on the possibility of further violence;
- needs to be created with the affected employee as she knows the abuser's patterns of behaviour, the higher-risk times, and the resources available to her;
- suggests actions that the worker and employer can take – it doesn't dictate absolute steps;
- recognizes that the abuser's behaviour cannot be controlled, but that the plan may increase the worker's safety, her co-workers' safety, or the safety of her children; and
- is fluid – it needs to be reviewed regularly and revised as needed to respond to changes.

A workplace safety plan generally will look at:

- increased security measures for the victim while at work or travelling to and from work (panic buttons, caller i.d., door security, code words, photo of abuser supplied to security, escorts to car or public transportation)
- record-keeping options for possible police evidence (e.g., threatening voice mails or emails)
- emergency contact person if the employer is unable to reach the worker
- alternative work arrangements to adjust the worker's schedule or location in order to increase the worker's safety

Services that provide safety planning include:

- The Assaulted Women's Helpline at 1-866-863-0511 and TTY 1-866-863-7868. They offer anonymous and confidential crisis support for abused women in Ontario in 154 languages. Service representatives discuss the warning signs of abuse and give practical advice on safety planning and other community resources.
- Shelters at www.shelternet.ca or 416-642-5463. They provide information for abused women, their family, friends, and colleagues on a variety of topics, including finding shelter and safety planning.
- Shelters for abused women. Their phone numbers can be found in your community telephone listings. They provide emergency shelter and support services to women and their children in various stages of their abusive relationship, including safety planning.

What if the Abuser and the Victim Belong to the Same Workplace?

In some cases of domestic violence, the victim and the abuser will work in the same organization. Keeping the victim safe will require the employer to respond effectively to the worker who is abusive. It is important to hold the abuser accountable for any unacceptable behaviour in the workplace.

In some instances, the violence may appear mutual, but there is usually one person who is exerting power and control over the other to cause fear. Victims may act defensively or reactively to the violence. Keep this dynamic in mind as you address domestic violence in the workplace.

Some steps that an employer can take to respond to a worker who is abusive and who works in the same organization as the victim include:

- providing information on the Employee Assistance Program (EAP) or community counselling;
- following disciplinary steps that hold the abuser accountable for any unacceptable behaviour and ensuring that the victim and co-workers are protected;
- setting up alternative work arrangements so the abuser does not have access to the victim;
- calling the police to investigate and requesting restraining orders that keep the abuser away from the workplace and the victim; and
- ensuring that co-workers do not try to intervene physically to prevent or stop the violence themselves, and that police or counsellors are involved.
